The Courage to Advance

The Courage to Advance released this past week, October 19th, 2021. We want to remind you that the network collectively is a legal co-author of The Courage to Advance and therefore, any member can put the book in your signature, talk about it on a podcast, speak on leadership competencies covered in the book, etc.

Our goals for the book are to draw attention to our network of amazing board-ready women, to inspire leaders, both men and women, who may feel alone in their struggles and can be encouraged by our members' stories and to bring in some revenue for the network. The book is ideal for book clubs and men and women who are current or aspiring leaders in their field.

If you have not had a chance to grab a copy, please use the link below.
